The Benefits of Your Participation

Save a life! This program promotes the expertise of our local physicians with specific knowledge in the physical demands of sporting activities. Our screening process is the first step in the injury prevention process. We insist athletes follow up with individual physicians as part of a complete sports medicine approach.

Screenings further promote regular health check-ups. Student-athletes are screened in preparation for participation in sports, encouraging them to seek regular medical care through their pediatrician or other primary care provider.

Discover the latest. JSMP offers the latest resources in prevention of sports-related injuries, including the ImPACT concussion management program and performance enhancement programming. Consider joining our program today; visit our website to find out more at www.jsmp.us.
